

Dr. Hosein Torabmostaedi is a Research Fellow in the Centre for Bioenergy & Resource management at Cranfield University. Hosein specializes in the fluid and aerosol dynamics and is an expert in the finite volume and element methods. He co-supervise the modelling activities associated with the thermal spray and nanomaterial synthesis research activities in the Centre for Bioenergy and Resource Management and is also responsible for the co-ordination of the research projects in the Centre.